

Eucharistic Homily

Second Sunday of Advent

December 9, 2018

As we sing the song of Zechariah on this side of the Incarnation, we are reminded that all of God's promises are yes and amen in Christ Jesus. God has remembered his holy covenant and fulfilled his promise to our father Abraham.

The darkness has been shattered and a new day has dawned because the Sunrise from on high has visited us. Jesus has come and secured our salvation by his death on the cross for our sins. He has accomplished a new and greater Exodus by delivering us from bondage to sin and death. We are no longer slaves to unrighteousness but sons of God. Christ our Passover has been sacrificed for us, so that now we can share in this heavenly feast as His people.

If you've been baptized into Christ and are seeking to live faithfully and obediently for Him, you are invited to partake of this feast that our gracious God has prepared for us. These are the gifts of God for the people of God.
