

Eucharistic Homily

Twenty-Second Lord's Day of Pentecost

November 1, 2020

This Holy Communion provides us with a tangible reminder that God specializes in bringing life out of death.

When we eat this bread in faith, we commune in the glorified body of our exalted Savior. But that's only possible because Jesus first laid down his life and gave his body to be broken for us. It is only because Jesus came as a man to suffer the infinite wrath of God against sinners that we are freely granted peace with God and reconciliation with our fellow man in the body of Christ.

Likewise, this cup of blessing that we drink was first the cup of the Father's wrath that Jesus drank to the dregs. Every single sin you've ever committed is covered by the priceless blood of Jesus, and every single sin ever committed against you is redeemed by the priceless blood of Jesus.

If God can provide the blessings of this Table out of the horror of the cross, He can certainly transform our pain, suffering, and disappointment into glory.

If you've been baptized into Christ and are seeking to live faithfully and obediently for Him, you are invited to partake of this feast that our gracious God has provided for us. These are the gifts of God for the people of God.
